

CALL FOR SYMPOSIA

DIVISION OF ENVIRONMENTAL CHEMISTRY

American Chemical Society, 249th National Meeting, March 22-26, 2015

Denver, Colorado

Dear Colleagues,

We are now accepting proposals for the 249th American Chemical Society National Meeting to be held in Denver, Colorado, March 22-26, 2015. I invite you to join the first meeting of the Division's second century by organizing a symposium:

- Exploring future innovations in environmental chemistry and engineering
- Applying the Denver meeting theme, Chemistry of Natural Resources
- Continuing advancements in an important topic highlighted in the 2014 centennial program
- Combining ENVR and other divisions or organizations to develop interdisciplinary approaches to solving environmental issues
- Covering general areas of environmental chemistry, science and engineering

If you are interested in organizing a symposium, send me a brief description of the session/symposium using the ENVR Call for Papers template to al-abed.souhail@epa.gov. In order for your symposium to be announced in C&E News, I will need your information by June 25, 2014. Symposia added after that date will be publicized on the Division's website only.

Dr. Souhail Al-Abed Spring Program Chair ACS Division of Environmental Chemistry